Komodo Tour Discover The Dinosaur-Eque Komodo Dragons

Embarking on a Komodo tour is a privilege – the journey to the remote islands is far but the discovery makes the voyage worth it. Komodo is the common term used for a primarily volcanic chain of islands in the South East of Indonesia. In fact, this is more accurately made up of three main islands: Komodo Island, Rinca Island, and Padar Island that together with a few other islets form over 2,000 square kilometers of protected national parkland.

Dragons and diving are the two main reasons people decide to charter a yacht as one of the most ideal ways to experience the best Komodo tour. One of the principal attractions is the infamous Komodo dragon, the biggest reptile on earth which can reach weights of up to 70 kilograms and grow up to 3 meters in length.

Whether you enjoy scuba diving or snorkeling, exploring the nautical delights of the region is a must. Coral gardens, plankton rich waters and rushing currents attract many species of fish, from the smallest to the biggest : multicolored fishes, giant pelagics, sharks, turtles, and manta rays while hundreds of varieties of coral thrive providing homes for an impressive array of macro life. Journeying on a Komodo tour is a way to experience the rich and diverse marine wildlife Flores has in abundance.

Alor

The unspoilt flora of the islands experience of natural beauty.

There are 95 islands surrounding this archipelago encompassing 7,420 km² / 2,865 miles² of land and water. The Pantar Strait is between the islands of Alor and Pantar. The water coming from the Pacific in the north is flowing through this strait to merge with the Indian Ocean in the south. Similar flow occurs in the Komodo Archipelago. With more than 75 dive sites to choose, this area contains 1,200 species of coral reef fish and 500 species of corals. While under water, visibility ranges up to 40m/132 feet in the dry season of July to September.

Discover the world's most colorful, beautiful and densely covered coral reef dive sites on Pura and Pantar. Some sites are known for their beautiful panoramas of dense coral, anemone, and sponge coverage mixed with smaller reef fish. Each site here is diverse with its own topography and vibrant colors scheme including walls, slopes and seamounds. Spend an extra day to travel to Sikka in search for the walrus type mammal, called a Dugong.

Kalabahi Bay and Baengabang Bay are great places for night dives. You can venture out for a night-dive where you will witness a busy nightlife in this volcanic seabed from rare Octopus to the iconic Rhinopias. The Pantar Strait provides us with an opportunity to see several types of pelagic fish given the right tide and moon phase. These can include Eagle rays, Barracuda, Trevally, Tunas, Rainbow Runners and if we are lucky even Mola-Mola, Dolphins, Hammerhead Sharks or Thresher Sharks.

Banda Island

Immerse Your Senses In Great Nutmeg Island's Spices

Banda sea liveaboard isn't just a fascinating combination of natural beauty, a warm local heart, and a palpable and fascinating history; this remote cluster of 10 picturesque islands isn't just Maluku's choice travel destination, it's one of the best in Indonesia. Particularly impressive undersea drop-offs are vibrantly plastered with multicoloured coral gardens offering superlative snorkelling and diving. The central islands – Pulau Neira and Pulau Banda Besar (the great nutmeg island) – curl in picturesque crescents around a pocket-sized tropical Mt Fuji (Gunung Api, 656m).

Outlying Hatta, Ai and Neilaka each have undeveloped picture-postcard beaches. And Run, a gnarled limestone island sprouting with nutmeg and cloves, is one drop-dead gorgeous historical footnote. Going on a Banda sea liveaboard is the best way to reach the pristine and hidden areas of the archipelago. Getting to the islands takes time but with a fast-boat service from Ambon (in the dry season anyway) and talk of a new airport, Banda is becoming more accessible and seems set to see more visitors in the near future. So get here now, before everyone else does.

Banda Island charter season is from November to March.

Triton Bay

Experience the home of endemic species of Indonesia

Triton Bay is known as a home to endemic species. Endemism in Triton evolved the same way as it has throughout the Bird's Head of Papua. Beginning ten millions years ago shifting tectonic plate caused geological upheavals and formed new island chains across the Indonesian Archipelago. Triton's reef developed into a crossroad for current-borne marine larvae originating from the Banda Sea. Another contributing factor is the tremendous volume of fresh water flowing from the Mainland of Papua into the sea. Most marine larvae cannot survive in low saline environment. Here they survive and flourish.

The indigenous people of Lobo Village believe that the giant Garuda bird once made Kaimana its home. A woman from Warinau Mountain laid 2 eggs. These 2 eggs hatched into one black bird and one white bird. The black bird grew into a giant bird. It is believed that when Garuda set its wings on the sky, it covered the sun above Kaimana. The villagers were afraid of the black bird. One day, Portuguese sailors arrived at Lobo and they shot the black bird, which relieved the entire village. They later built a statue of the Garuda as the reminder that Garuda once lived there. The bones were nowhere to be found. The story of white egg remains unknown. Today, Garuda is the symbol of Republic of Indonesia.

Raja Ampat

The World's Most Colorful Coral Reefs

Raja Ampat is the remotest location traveled to by MAGIA II and an epicenter of marine biodiversity dubbed by scientists as the “species factory”; The diving here is among the best on the planet and so undiscovered that many of the dive sites are named after the first person to designate it. This location is a record-breaker with more species documented here on a single dive than anywhere else in the world, ever. The name of this region means “Four Kings”; in Bahasa Indonesian, and it comprises over 1,500 islands scattered between the four mainland masses of Misool, Salawati, Batanta, and Waigeo. This is a gorgeous location, and the best time of year to cruise to Raja Ampat is between November and April. Sailing on MAGIA II means easy access to everything this magical destination has to offer.
